

ANTI TERRORISM ACCREDITATION BOARD
www.goATAB.org

"Establishing a Safe Standard for Responders to Terrorist Incidents"

17 March, 2005

ATAB NEW RELEASE

RE: James P. Litchko, CAS

The Anti Terrorism Accreditation Board (ATAB) announced on Thursday the 17th of March that James P. Litchko of Litchko & Associates has been awarded the coveted Certified Anti-terrorism Specialist designation. Mr. Litchko having over 30 years of experience with the military and security management and has proven his expertise by successfully earning the CAS designation. Mr. Litchko a lecture and Author of "KNOW your life", "KNOW IT Security", "KNOW Cyber Risk", and "The Cyber Threat Levels Response Handbook" has distinguished himself as a security professional.

Obtaining the CAS designation is not an easy task. Only a percentage of those who apply are actually worthy of being granted the designation. The CAS designation requires knowledge in a multitude of areas ranging from Incident Indicators to Emergency Response to Self Protection in a Hot Zone to Incident Preservation, Disaster Recovery, Seaport and Aviation Security and Cyber Terrorism. All together there are twenty-two areas of knowledge to master. The study and resource materials for the 3 day, 2000 question exam cover over 400 Terrorism Response related books, manuals, and white papers.

James studies, efforts and dedication are a benefit to the industry as well as the Kensington community.

Therefore, the Board of Directors of the Anti Terrorism Accreditation Board would like to congratulate James on being qualified as a Certified Anti-Terrorism Specialist and wish him well in his professional pursuits. Individuals in the responder industry may obtain a disc and information on qualifying for the CAS by going to www.goATAB.org or calling 703-880-5212.